LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Wade Keyes, Esq., of the law firm of Montague & Keyes, Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Keyes, also Dr. and Mrs.
George Worcester of Newburyport, Mass., were recently the guests of Dr.
and Mrs. N. P. Wood, 112 Main street.

A good audience greeted the Hayden Trio Concert company in the Auditorium last Monday evening. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Boys' Brigade and netted them about $35. The musical selections were of a popular nature and were rendered with artistic effect. Miss Eleanor Hayden is a player of exceptional skill upon the xylophone. Miss Wilbur's readings were well received especially those of a humorous turn which are better suited to her than the dramatic or pathetic.

Mrs. C. C. Philbrick and Mrs. Katherine Bagley of West Somerville, Mass., have returned to their homes after a pleasant visit with the family of C. S. Warner.

Mr. Burton Newton, of Troy, N. Y., and his bride were recently the guests of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Newton. Mr.
Newton was formerly in the employ of the Northfield seminary but is now with the Troy City Express.

The ten year old son of A. W. Stevenson on Rustic Ridge met with a very serious accident a few days ago. A pan of boiling water was upset, severely scalding his arms and chest.

A number of children were entertained at the grange last Tuesday evening and plans were made for them to participate in a flower show and entertainment to be held same time next month.

Miss Helen Marsh, one of the teachers in the public schools of Attleboro, Mass., has been visiting the family of her uncle, H. H. Chamberlain during the past week. From here Miss Marsh went by auto to her home in Rochester, N. Y., with Mr. Henry Shipman of Brattleboro.

The decorations in the Unitarian church last Sunday were of crimson ramblers and were unusually pretty.
Miss Brown, a cousin of the Misses Green added to the interest of the services by singing two appropriate solos.

The Rev. Elliott W. Brown, D. D., occupied the pulpit of the Brown Memorial church of Baltimore last Sunday.

Miss Flora Price, for many years a member of the household of Paul D.
Moody and of his father, D. L. Moody died last Saturday from tetanus, the result of an injury received by a fall about two weeks ago. Her sister was with her during the critical period of her illness and accompanied her body to New Haven for burial. Funeral services were conducted at Mr. Moody's by Rev. N. Fay Smith.

Mr. A. L. Carpenter has accepted a position as travelling salesman for the products of the American Agricultural Chemical Company of Boston. Mr.
Carpenter's territory will cover Western New England.

A slight blaze with considerable smoke in Revell Hall last Saturday gave the people of East Northfield some anxiety until it was extinguished.
Very little damage was done.

Some of the boys of Northfield have shown good hustling qualities in selling The Northfield Press. We give a good commission on sales and subscriptions and we can use one or two more bright boys Saturday mornings.

In spite of rumors to the effect that there would be no street sprinkling this summer, the sprinkler has been at work and Main street and Hillside Avenue may still be traversed with comfort.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Blake of Weston, Mass., are here for a visit with Mrs. Blake's mother, Mrs. Joseph W.
Field, 27 Main street.

What might have been a serious accident occurred a few days ago at the corner of Highland Avenue and Camp road. D. L. Proctor of the American Express was driving south when he was overtaken by the automobile of Dr. George Worcester of West Newton. In spite of the fact that Mr.
Proctor gave two thirds of the road to the approaching car it nevertheless was driven so close that in swinging the corner its top struck the neck of Mr.
Proctor's horse inflicting a considerable wound and, as is too often the case, the auto sped on as though nothing unusual had occurred. Mr. Proctor, however, found it later, but got no satisfaction from its owner, who refused to acknowledge any claim for damages.

The annual lawn party of First Parish, to be held on the 29th inst., will be made more attractive than ever. Several new features will be presented, and as on previous occasions there will be music by the Northfield band, the grounds will be illuminated with hundreds of Chinese lanterns, booths will be erected for the sale of attractive articles, and there will be abundance of ice cream and cake.

Last week a Boston firm published a book written by Mr. Charles Francis Adams and Rev. D. M. Wilson in collaboration. It is the life of John Quincy after whom the city of Quincy is named. He was a leading statesman of the Provincial period of the country, representing his town for many years in the General Court, Speaker of the House of Representatives and a member of his Majesty's Council.

Northfield street is becoming more and more with every year part of the great thoroughfare for all kinds of vehicles bound for the summer resorts in Vermont and New Hampshire.
Tourists in automobiles go out of their way in order to pass through our beautiful town. This would become more the fashion if the state road were only extended. Many parties might stay over for a day or so at our hotels. Can anything be done to induce the state authorities to undertake this improvement?

What is to be done in Deerfield in the way of giving an outdoor representation of Joan of Arc, suggests a use to which we may put our new Park in a few years. Nothing in Deerfield or any other town can surpass the beauty and convenience of the scene which is afforded by the enclosure made by the fine trees which surround the site of the Old Field place.

Among the guests at the Windemere are Mrs. C. G. Hoover, a missionary among the mountaineers of Kentucky, Miss Mary E. Heroy, a missionary among the Jews of New York City, Mrs. J. G. Slack and Miss Louise F.
Bacon of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The following are among the guests at the Northfield: Mr. James Carey and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hasbrouck, Mrs. John Gibb, Rev. Boyd Edwards
and Mr. W. W. Adams, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Dr. Elizabeth Van Dryne and Mrs. E. S. Campbell of Newark, N. J.;
Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Otis of Yonkers, N. Y.; Miss Margaret Slattery of Fitchburg, Mass.; Mrs. C. O. Russell
of Springfield, Mass.; Dr. John H.
Strong, of Rochester, N. Y., and Mr.
Frederick Paul Wright of Dallas, Texas.

Among the events of interest during the summer, Temperance day on August 5th, in the Auditorium, is one that our readers will do well to remember.

CONTRIBUTED.

Rustic Ridge, July 14.

Editor Northfield Press:—

I should like to use the columns of your paper to advocate a much needed improvement upon the Ridge. The cottage colony there deplores the fact that they have no place for bathing but the river, and the river is impossible for women and children. Many of us have looked longingly toward the old, discarded reservoir opposite "Heath Lane" with a desire to plunge in regardless of restrictions. Why not remove these restrictions and let the people bathe there? The only thing necessary to transform it into a splendid bathing pool is to replace the several years' collection of leaves therein with a few loads of gravel. Surely the pleasure such an improvement would afford the cottagers would more than make up for the trouble and at the same time would add to the attractiveness of Rustic Ridge as a delightful resort for the summer.

A PROPERTY OWNER.

MOTHERS, WHERE ARE YOUR GIRLS TO-NIGHT?

(Tune, where is my wandering boy tonight?)

O mothers, where are your girls to-night?

Look after them while you may.

The world is full of sin and blight

Don't let them go astray.

Chorus.

O, where are your girls to-night?

O, where are your girls to-night?

Wherever they go, you love them we know,

O where are your girls to-night?

You know they are good and free from sin

While you keep them by your side,

O, watch and keep them pure within,

And teach them as moments glide.

As years go by they will love you more

As they mingle in worldly strife,

Your kind advice they will keep in store

A beacon to guide through life.

JULIA P. MALLEY.

Northfield, July 15.

Editor Press:—

The authorities of the Dickinson library having been asked to contribute something about books and reading will seize the opportunity to call attention every week to books of especial value or of immediate interest. Vacation reading for the young is suggested as an easy and inviting beginning, especially as a group of young ladies who were made aware of the request were good enough to recommend several stories which pleased them. "All of Mary P. Wells-Smith's books," said "sweet fifteen." Yes, they are all interesting, especially to every boy and girl who lives in the Connecticut valley. Perhaps it may appear a little old-fashioned to make up a brief list for girls and another for boys. In these days the girls like boys' books, and the boys like—the girls. At all events here are six titles which can be heartily recommended to young ladies of about fifteen: Lorna Doon, by Blackmore; Ivanhoe, by Scott; In His Name, by Dr. Hale; Biography of a Grizzly, by Seaton; Around the World in the Sunbeam, by Lady Brassey; Ramona, by Helen H. Jackson. For boys of the same age the following are suggested: Green Mountain Boys, by Thompson; The Man without a Country, by Dr. Hale; Captains Courageous, by Kipling; Indian Boyhood, by Charles Eastman; Kidnapped, by Stevenson; The Making of Christopher Ferringham, by Dix. When the girls read through the list especially recommended to them they can turn to the list made out for the boys, and the boys can likewise appropriate the list made out for the girls. Both sides of the house will profit by this plan. The attention of older persons might be drawn to some recent books on that subject which so persistently occupies the centre of the stage, the mind cure.

There is "Religion and Medicine," which might be called the official promulgation of what the church has done in this line and what it may do, by the Rev. Messrs. Worcester and McComb, of Emmanuel church, Boston. Then there is the scientific summation of the value and scope of this method by Munsterberg, the Harvard professor. This last is a somewhat learned book, but one of conspicuous balance and thoroughness. With these two books might be named "Self-Control, and How to Secure It," by Dr. Paul Dubois. He is one of the authorities in the realm of the influence of the mind over the body, and all he writes is of value.—D. M. W.

The Young Women's Conference.

The college men who attended the Student's conference last week had scarcely disappeared when their places were taken by the young ladies from schools, colleges, Y. W. C. A.'s and churches who are here to attend the Young Women's conference. For weeks Miss Bertha Harlan, secretary of the conference, has been busy making arrangements for what is proving to be the biggest conference for a number of years. Nearly a hundred girls are registered from Smith and Wellesley. The daily program comprises Bible study classes, one informal and the other conducted by Miss Slatery of Fitchburg, two mission study classes, a morning sermon, a Round Top meeting and an address in the Auditorium in the evening. The afternoons will be spent in recreation. The special chorals are in charge of Miss Claire Chapman of London.

Mr. W. R. Moody has announced the program and sent forth the "call" to the general conference in August which in all probability will be the largest ever held. The call reads as follows:

Dear Friends and Fellow Workers:—

In extending an invitation to the 27th Christian workers' conference, to be held at Northfield July 31 to August 15, it is with the confident expectation of a season of special blessing. Pursuant to what has become a feature of the conference, the daily program of meetings will begin with a Bible class conducted by Rev. Dr. A. T. Pierson at 9 o'clock hour. Other services will be addressed by Rev. J. H. Jowett of Birmingham, G. A. Johnston Ross of Cambridge, J. Stuart Holden of London, J. A. Hutton of Glasgow, Charles Brown of London, Frank Gunsaulus of Chicago, Canon Cody of Toronto, Len Broughton of Atlanta, Robert F. Y. Pierce of New York city and John F. Carson of Brooklyn. The music will be in charge of Messrs. George C. Stebbins and Lewis S. Chafer.

A new departure at the conference this year will be a daily ministers' meeting, conducted by Rev. G. A. Johnston Ross. These services are arranged in response to a wish, frequently expressed by many pastors attending the conference, for a meeting where ministerial problems may be discussed. It is the earnest purpose of Mr. Ross to make these gatherings of practical value in the spiritual work of the church.

We earnestly request the prayers of friends for the conference. It was the original purpose of this gathering that through Christian fellowship, prayer and Bible study, those who attended might be strengthened in the fundamental truths of our Christian faith. This remains its true object still, and to the fulfilment of this end we ask the prayers of the Christian public.

W. R. Moody.

East Northfield, Mass., July 8, 1909.

BURGLARY.

About 8 o'clock Monday morning the residence of George T. Spencer on Pine street was entered by a burglar and $25 in money was stolen. Mrs. Spencer was awakened by the thief moving about and he, on seeing that he was discovered, disappeared. Entrance to the house was not difficult as the doors were unlocked and to make it still more easy one of Mr. Spencer's sons, who left the house about midnight, took the dog, which is an excellent watchdog, with him. In spite of all efforts to catch the thief he is still at liberty.

RUSTIC RIDGE NOTES

A deer pursued by three dogs recently passed the door of Crescent cottage.

Clarence Steadman, a pupil in the East Northfield school, a few days ago killed a black snake that measured nearly five feet in length.

Howard Randall is chief hustler on the Ridge for the Northfield Press.

We should like to receive by mail or telephone news items from the Ridge and the Highlands. The summer colony is quite extensive and is an important factor in the success of The Press.

We find it quite difficult however to get as much news as we should like from that source, hence our call for help.

Miss Josephine Hall who for several years has been a summer resident of Northfield has taken the Smith Cottage for the season.

Mr. Theodore S. Leonard, of Brooklyn, and family are occupants of the new Darrow Cottage in Mountain Park.

Mrs. Emily C. Roberts of Brookline, Mass., has opened her cottage on West Lane.

Fremont Roper, a student at Brown University, who is spending the summer with his parents in their cottage on the Highlands is out with a new two seater as a result of cornering the ice cream market fourth of July week.

Dr. Aylsworth, of Patterson, N.J., and family are established in their cottage on Rustic Way.

MOUNT HERMON NOTES.

Concrete walks are being laid from the Commons to the chapel and from Dining Hall to Cottage Row.

Our chef, Mr. Watson and family are visiting friends near Brattleboro.

The new Commons is much improved by the addition of white enameled screens and new screen doors.

A daily Bible course is now in progress, conducted by Rev. F. Boyd Williams. It will cover a period of two weeks.

Harold W. Stevens, professor of mathematics, leaves this week for his home in Maine. Mr. Stevens has other plans which will prevent his return to Hermon.

The swimming season opened last Saturday in the Connecticut bordering the Campus. Swimming will be allowed three times a week, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. A swimming instructor will be present and the boys will be under his supervision.

Miss Florence Lillian Orvis of Wheaton, Ill., is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Anna E. Stoddard at the Wheaton. Her cousin, Miss Ruth May Stoddard is with her.

A closely contested game of baseball was played on Wednesday between Camp Northfield and the Northfield Hotel. The score was 4 to 3 in favor of the Camp.

The new summer home of Dr. C. I. Schofield was completely destroyed by fire Wednesday morning. A kitchen stove set fire to an outshed and this spread to the house.

Miss Nettie G. Wise, a trained nurse from Greenfield is visiting the family of J. L. Dunnell.

Action Against Alderman.

A petition for a writ of quo warranto has been filed by L. W. Brown of Vernon in behalf of himself "and all other good and lawful citizens of said Vernon," asking that one George E. Alderman, proprietor of the South Vernon house, show wherein he is legally holding a license to sell liquor in that part of Vermont wherein he is located. Mr. Brown in his petition avers that the patrons of Mr. Alderman's hostelry are addicted to the habit of becoming intoxicated, boisterous and discourteous, and accordingly he prays that the supreme court of Vermont command Mr. Alderman to show that he is lawfully exercising the right to deal in liquor at the specific point he is at present located.

Under sections 128 and 132 of the acts of 1908, it is not lawful for a license to be issued for the sale of liquor nearer than two miles from the state line unless such license shall be issued in the principal village of the town in which case it may be situated nearer the line than two miles. Mr.

Brown in his petition avers that Mr. Alderman's bar is located within 60 feet of the Massachusetts state line and 25 rods from the New Hampshire line, and is accordingly not entitled to cater to the thirsty under the statute cited above. Judge Rowell of the supreme court directed Friday that a copy of the complaint be served upon Mr. Alderman and the same was done Saturday. Judge Rowell directed that Mr. Alderman file his answer within six days and that the complainant is to take and file his testimony in ten days after the answer of Mr. Alderman; that said Alderman is to file his testimony within ten days after the filing of the complainant's and Mr. Brown is to have five days in which to rebut from the date of the filing of Mr. Alderman's testimony. The testimony will be presented to the supreme court the second Tuesday of next October. Meantime there is a possibility that a restraining order may be issued in the case.

Chase & Daley appear for Mr. Brown. Alderman applied for a license and the commissioners gave him one although there was opposition of Attorney Daley, representing L. W. Brown of Vernon and citizens of Northfield and Mount Hermon, Mass.—Brattleboro Reformer.

It is common to overlook what is near, by keeping the eye fixed upon something remote. In the same manner present opportunities are neglected, and attainable good is slighted by minds busied in extensive ranges and intent upon future advantages.—John-son.

We have a number of splendid places—Residences and Fine Farms in and about the village. Send for one of our new real estate bulletins containing descriptions. If you are in earnest we will gladly take you to see the properties.

How much interest are you receiving on your savings? Those who invest in cottages on Rustic Ridge, Northfield Highlands or Mountain Park seldom make less than 10 per cent on their investment and the property is constantly increasing in value.

Many ministers with small incomes are providing for their old age by building cottages to rent. Money to build with may be had at 5 per cent and a cottage leased for one month will pay the interest on the whole investment. You then have the cottage the rest of the season for yourself rent free.

We have a few Rustic Ridge Cottages left. Some are rented for part of the season and may be rented by the week or month. They are comfortably furnished and have the best of mountain spring water in kitchen and bath room. The Bungalows in the pines have broad verandas, and some of them fine outlooks on the mountains.
